The Awkward Squad Meets Hetalia!

Chapter 1: What the Heck are Jenkina and Vicancia?!

Summary:

A psychotic history geek who has many secrets, an alcoholic dimension goddess with a prothistetic arm and a sarcastic king who has issues with spending money. They seem completely different and they are, but the Awkward Squad is brought together by their love of doing crazy things. Ending up in Hetalia, chaos ensues as this trio of friends comes up with crazy (and possibly illegal) things to do, dragging the countries into the mess.

" Hey Leroy!" Arwen called to the ginger haired male who currently was putting groceries in the refrigerator,

" Yes?" He replied looking back at the red eyed girl, an annoyed look on his face.

" When will Keeper get here? You know the meeting can't start without her, but I'm starting to get bored." right on queue, a woman with short brown hair and pine green eyes burst through the door panting like a dog under the summer sun.

" S'rry I'm -huh- late, me -huh- watched stopped." the woman said, an apologetic look on her face,

" It's okay Keeper, its not like everybody makes mistakes sometimes."

Leroy replied sarcastically, walking out of the kitchen and sitting on the couch.

"Thanks Leroy, b't you didn't have to be sarcastic." Keeper stated

" Uumm... Sorry to ruin the non-existent moment guys, but don't we have some interdimensional traveling to get to today?"

" Oh yeah! I just remembered!" Keeper said estatically, a large smile on her face,

" D' you have all 'our things?"

" Of course not! Why would I need stuff?" replied Leroy sarcastically.

" Ð”Ð°*, Keeper! I have everything prepared!" Arwen stated, a unnerving smile on her face,

" Okay then, since every ones ready, I'll open the p'rtal, but remember that this p'rtal could appear any where in this room so be careful and aware of 'our surroundings. When the p'rtal opens, I will tell you the saf'st way to enter and will go first to 'nsure it's safe. Und'rstand?" said Keeper in a serious tone.

Both Leroy and Arwen nodded silently,

" Okay then, so l'ts get st'rted!"

" Five!" Leroy and Arwen gripped onto their bags and stood up in anticipation.

" Four!" It was completely silent and no one moved as the old grandfather clock ticked in the backround, greatening the suspensful atmosphere.

" Three!" a small whirring noise and wind swept through the large living room, signifying the portal was getting ready to spawn.

" Two!" the whirring noise grew louder as the portal was ready to open.

" One!" the portal didn't seem to appear and the trio looked around with confused looks on their faces, searching for the portal. Then one suddenly appeared beneath them and they fell down into the sky of a new world, Leroy then started screaming as they descended through the sky of an unknown area.

WORLD SUMMIT

" Now the world conference can convene!" said America loudly, " By talking excessively we can solve all of the world problems! Now since we don't apparently have enough materials to build a Super Hero Global Man, I suggest you give all your money to me so I can make a super cool giant mecha to stop global warming 'cause I'm the hero!"

" Rike Neon Genesis Evangerion!" stated Japan, a blank expression on his face.

" Man over, I'll beat you with my peace prize!" said Switzerland, slamming his fist onto the conference room table.

" If we don't have enough materials to build a regular giant robot, how could we possibly create one that would need more technology to be able to pilot it!" England sighed, face palming.

France then spouted out a multitude of words and sentences very quickly while roses and sparkles appeared behind him.

America, France and England then started arguing loudly, England hitting France in the head with a book while America poked him in the head with a black ballpoint pen, which then escalated to a catfight.

" This always happens, aru." said China, " I know! Would you like to try some Chinese Tasty Treat!?"

" No!" the arguing trio replied, " We'll just get fat agai-BOOM!"

The trio was interrupted when a young woman in her early twenties who appeared to be carrying a sledgehammer and a large axe fell through the roof, creating a giant hole and on to the table.

" Oof!" the young woman said after making impact with the table, " Well that h'rt." she then mumbled getting up slowly until she was standing on the table. Before anyone could ask the woman who she was, a loud screaming noise could be heard along with what appeared to be someone shouting curse words in a language that none of the countries knew. then a young man with ginger hair and brown eyes fell through the hole and into the young woman's arms.

" Thanks Keeper." the ginger said, climbing out of the young woman's arms and looked up with a confused look on his face

" What the?" he muttered, and all of the countries looked up to see a young girl who looked about 11 with red eyes and short brown hair floating down to the ground with nothing to slow her fall. She also appeared to be reading a large world history book.

When the girl finally floated down to the ground, she closed her book and put it in her backpack. She then turned to all of the countries and said,

" ÐŸÑ€Ð¸Ð²ÐµÑ‚,! We come from Vicancia and Jenkina!"

America who had been suprisingly silent for most of the ordeal then blurted out loudly,

" What the heck are Vicancia and Jenkina!?"

The young girl turned to America with a blank expression on her face and said coolly,

" Why they are two of the best countries in the universe and yours isn't one of them."
